

Department for Education 16-18 Performance Measures - Destinations

Historical Overview

We are delighted that the hard work of our students and teachers has been recognised in the Department for Education's performance measures. Post-16 educational institutions are assessed by five distinct measures; progress, attainment, retention, English and maths as well as destinations. These accountability headline measures aim to give a full picture of how sixth form centres and colleges are performing, taking account of a variety of factors.
